The problem · both sides of the table

Private capital still runs on inboxes, decks and silence.

If you invest

- Decks, introductions, referrals and applications pile up; the right deal does not announce itself.
- Every meeting starts from scratch, while capital sits waiting.
- Every bad investment costs you. So does every great one you never discover.

If you are raising

- Search, pitch, fly, rewrite, follow up — then silence.
- Wrong stage, geography, cheque size or thesis, discovered too late.
- Or not ready: weak governance, unclear numbers, strong traction told badly.

Finding the right capital, from the right investor, at the right time is painfully inefficient — at first raise, Series B, a down round, or growth capital for an established business.

The solution

One platform. Both sides. One Q doing the analyst work.

Q

An AI investment analyst. Ask anything, compare businesses, interrogate assumptions, prepare for meetings — answered from evidence, with sources.

Discover

Investors set a mandate once and swipe a personalised, explainable feed of companies that fit.

GateQ

Inbound on autopilot: Q interviews, scores and ranks applications against the investor's thesis and criteria.

Investability IQ

What is ready, what is weak, why it matters, and what could be blocking the raise.

Q Card

One living private-capital identity: story, numbers, raise, intelligence and relationships.

Every fact carries its source and how it is supported, so trust is earned before the first meeting.

How it works

Minutes, not months.

Investors

1. Set the mandate — thesis, stage, sectors, geography, cheque size, minimum criteria.
2. Discover — an aligned feed, ranked deterministically and explained; swipe to match.
3. Ask Q — interrogate the business; run the Interview Before the Interview.
4. Decide — meetings become decisions, not introductions.

Businesses raising

1. Upload what you have — deck, model, data room; Q works first.
2. See what investors will see — Investability IQ names gaps and blockers.
3. Fill the gaps — confirm facts; unknown stays unknown, never guessed.
4. Match — with investors you genuinely suit — not who could invest, who should.

The behaviour change

Tomorrow, instead of “Send me your deck,” investors ask: “What’s your Q Card?”

Discovery

Better opportunities reach investors faster.

Inbound

GateQ plugs into a website, application page, accelerator or programme; every opportunity lands in one place.

Readiness

Businesses become more investment-ready before the first meeting.

Relationships

Bad fits disappear earlier; founders spend less time chasing, investors more time investing.

Market

Private capital has trillions of dollars. What it does not have is a home.

USD 1.2B

Estimated annual spend on deal sourcing and diligence tools by African and emerging-market private capital (company ESTIMATE).

Both sides

Investors pay for Discover, Q and GateQ; businesses raise better prepared.

Every stage

First raise, Series A to C, down rounds and growth capital for established businesses.

Market size is the company's own estimate (truth class ESTIMATE, self-reported), captured 30 September 2026. Beachhead: West and East Africa.

Business model

B2B SaaS for the people who allocate capital.

Investor-firm subscriptions

Funds, angel syndicates and family offices subscribe to Discover and Q. Pilot ARPA USD 400 per firm per month (September 2026).

GateQ for inbound

Funds, accelerators and investment programmes route applications through GateQ; expansion within accounts drives net revenue retention.

Founders start with Q

Upload what you already have and get useful intelligence first; no 17-page questionnaire.

No pay-to-rank, ever

Ranking is deterministic, explainable and never for sale. Trust is the product.
